

How Do You Manage Your Important Files?

--- Law Enforcement ---

Dimension Imaging - Running out of space for their records, a local police department began looking to solve this issue. Due to the confidential nature of their records, sending the documents out to be microfilmed was not possible. The department searched for alternative solutions that could be done in-house.

Dimension Imaging, after discussing their needs, provided the police department with a their own Imaging System. The solution included one scanner, one computer, capture and retrieval software. DI set-up the system and then provided on-site training for department staff. The results allowed the department to scan documents directly into their system and create a CD-ROM as an archived back-up copy. This solution solved their confidentiality issues and allowed them to use a current technology to access the records immediately.
